Preface

MARE - Marine and Environmental Sciences Centre, the University of Évora, together with the International Association of Meiobenthologists are proud to welcome the 17th International Meiofauna Conference (SeventIMCO). SeventIMCO is a major assembly to present and share advances in meiofaunal research and this year it becomes a historical meiofauna conference, celebrating its 50th anniversary (1969-2019).

Previous conferences have been held in Tunis, Tunisia (1969), York, England (1973), Hamburg, Germany (1977), Columbia, USA (1980), Ghent, Belgium (1983), Tampa, USA (1986), Vienna, Austria (1989), Maryland, USA (1992), Perpignan, France (1995), Plymouth, England (1998), Boston, USA (2001), Ravenna, Italy (2004), Recife, Brazil (2007), Ghent, Belgium (2010), Seoul, South Korea (2013) and Heraklion, Greece (2016). The 2019 edition, SeventIMCO, is hosted by MARE - Marine Environmental Sciences Centre - University of Évora, in the beautiful cultural heritage town of Évora, in Portugal.

This year, 7 keynote presentations, 74 oral presentations and 78 poster presentations are included in the program, which are distributed over 34 countries and 125 corresponding authors. Their contributions are distributed by the following themes, representing emerging topics of meiofauna research:

- Advances in taxonomy, phylogeny and biogeography.
- Meiofauna biodiversity patterns and ecosystem interactions (including freshwater, estuarine coastal and ocean, deep sea and frontiers ecosystems).
- Meiofauna in a changing world: meiofauna response to natural and anthropogenic pressures.
- Methodologic advances in meiofaunal studies: New tools and analytical and experimental approaches.
- Meiofauna and Science communication to Society.

We have also organized a new initiative: networking sessions. This is a dynamic encounter aimed at connecting early-career scientists with senior scientists to exchange ideas, collaborate and even identify research priorities for the next decade of meiofauna sciences.

SeventIMCO addresses various challenges that meiofauna research is facing nowadays, inspiring scientists to think beyond and across disciplines and ecosystems, to embrace innovative technologies and approaches. The participants are particularly encouraged to consider and discuss the contribution of meiofauna studies to support management decisions regarding the sustainable use of the marine and freshwater ecosystems.

We hope you enjoy the meeting and take with you good memories of the SeventIMCO and Évora!

Helena Adão
Chair of SeventIMCO
